Challenge accepted: react on discrimination. Confronting discriminative behaviours in the workplace

2024-05-15

We aim to understand better what oppression is, by using movement, gesture, and physical expression.

Workshop, based on Rainbow of desires - a powerful tool of Augusto Boal, refers to the various emotions that drive human behavior and can be explored and represented through theatrical performance. Expressing disapproval of experienced or witnessed discrimination can stop it from escalating and correct the behaviour of the perpetrators.

The workshop is an opportunity for personal and social transformation, allowing individuals to reflect on and explore their own emotions and desires and to create more harmonious communities.
